

Xmotion Transporta adds support for the Transmate freight management product

Melbourne, Australia - 25 January – Melbourne based technology company InterDev has teamed with Transmate to offer a full service mobility solution to the established Transmate freight management system. Transmate users will now have access to mobility services via their familiar Transmate interface and have the capability to dispatch jobs directly to mobile devices and receive updates in real-time. Xmotion Transporta compliments Transmate by adding electronic Proof of Delivery (Signature on Glass), real-time job updates and visibility of freight across the lifecycle of the trip.

“Transmate is an established freight management system and has provided services to freight operators for over 20 years” said Paul Bannister, Transmate Managing Director. “We were looking for a solution that complimented our products and provided significant value-add to our large customer base. Xmotion Transporta is a proven product and provides the flexibility and reliability at minimal investment. Adding Xmotion Transporta, our clients will now be able to dispatch jobs from Transmate in their familiar environment and gain real-time access to the freight life-cycle.”

“Flexibility is a key aspect of Xmotion Transporta” commented Andrew Rossington, InterDev Managing Director. Transmate has been extremely successful in the market due its maturity as a product and its ability to be adaptable to different business models. Xmotion Transporta now adds an adaptable mobility offering to Transmate clients and minimises training and business change costs”

For transport operators this provides significant value by removing the overheads associated with data entry and paper handling of delivery dockets. The integration to Transmate removes all the need for data entry and automatically creates invoices within Transmate as soon as the goods are delivered. Xmotion Transporta provides all the dispatch and event tracking to and from the mobile devices (PDA's or Mobile Data Terminals) in real-time and delivers the information to Transmate. Xmotion Transporta is designed to scale from small to medium operators through to enterprise organisations. The pricing model is scaled accordingly, allowing operators of all sizes to access the technology and gain a rapid return on investment.
